LAURENS, S. C., NOV. 11, 1914.

The Advertiser will be glad to receive the local news of all the communities in the county. Correspondents are requested to sign their names to the contributions. Letters should not be mailed later than Monday morning.

Cotton growers should not allow themselves to be deceived by statements from former users of burlap that they have discarded it for cotton bags in order to create a wider market for cotton goods. It is possible that this change has been made in a number of instances and probably cotton will supplant many other products so long as it remains at the present low price level, but when the market again becomes normal and cotton becomes more expensive than jute, then it may be expected that millers and others will return to wood and jute. Attention has been directed to the fact that the government is now using cotton twine instead of jute, but it will be noted that the contract price for the manufactured twine was less per pound than the raw material was bringing at this season last year. With prices in favor of cotton, the American manufacturer of good judgment will use cotton instead of jute, but with jute cheaper he will use jute. The cotton farmer does the same thing when buying his cotton packing.

JOSEPH A. HILL DEAD.

Gaillard Confederate Veteran Dies at Advanced Age in Cross Hill.

Cross Hill, Nov. 9.—Mr. Joseph A. Hill, a prominent citizen of Cross Hill township, died Thursday, Nov. 5th and was buried Friday at South Chapel cemetery. Mr. Hill was about 75 years old and leaves a wife, five sons, and two daughters to mourn. Mr. Hill served during the war in a cavalry company under Capt. G. Wash Williams. Most of the time in Virginia. He had several brothers in the same company.

The passing of such a man is a distinct loss to the county and to the community where he lived a long and useful life. He will be missed most by his wife of many years, who had shared his trials and had been his helpmate during life's journey, and by his sons and daughters. His pastor, Rev. J. T. Miller conducted the funeral services, a large concourse of friends being present. The floral offerings were beautiful. G. W. Hanna, W. B. Fuller, R. S. Griffin, W. J. Turner, T. G. Anderson and M. L. Nelson, veterans, were pall bearers.

WHEAT AND OATS FOR GRAIN CROPS

Former for Piedmont, the Latter for Plains. Advice by Mr. Long.

Thousands of cotton producers are face to face with the problem of having to plant something in the place of cotton with a chance of selling the new crop at a profit or using it at home to advantage.

About September 1, when it became apparent that the war in Europe was to be of some duration, W. W. Long, State agent and director of extension in South Carolina for the United States department of agriculture in co-operation with Clemson college, undertook to centre the attention of the farmers of the Palmetto State on the growing of grain and other crops in place of cotton. This campaign of education in diversification is still being carried on by Mr. Long and his farm demonstrators. His office has distributed nearly 300,000 circulars in South Carolina, giving detailed directions about the planting and cultivation of grain crops.

Mr. Long has advised South Carolina cotton producers to concentrate this winter on oats and wheat. The former grain can be produced to excellent advantage in the Piedmont as well as on the coastal plain. The latter grain is better adapted to the Piedmont sections of the State than to the coastal regions. Rye is another small grain that many farmers in South Carolina will plant this winter.

Oats are sown in this State from August to March, but the fall sown crop yields better than that of mid-winter and spring. The crop may be harvested for grain or cut for hay. Oats planted in the fall are ready for harvesting in May or June. This grain may be sown in cotton by using a one-horse drill just behind the cotton pickers, this being one of the most satisfactory and least expensive methods of seeding. The cotton stalks can be cut down later in the winter, so that they will not interfere with the reaper and binder in harvest time. Mr. Long thinks that where oats follow corn or a hay crop, such as cow peas or sorghum, the land should be plowed and the oats drilled in, though the seeds may be sown and disked in. Oats planted with a drill are not so likely to be killed in winter as those sown broadcast.

Mr. Long has recommended the Fulghum and Appier varieties of oats for seeding. One and one half bushels of seed to the acre are generally planted and give good results, although more or less may be used. As a rule, the richer the land the lighter the oats should be seeded. Less seed are required when a drill is used. Soil that is too rich or too much nitrogenous fertilizer may cause oats to lodge. For fertilizer in the southeastern cotton States, from 200 to 500 pounds of a mixture of equal parts of cottonseed meal and acid phosphate may be applied with advantage to each acre of oats when planted, followed in March by a top dressing of 100 pounds of nitrate of soda. Mr. Long has warned South Carolina farmers who are going to plant oats on a large scale that great care should be used in harvesting the crop as any discoloration will lower the grade of the grain.

Oats can be produced in every type of soil found in the State, but wheat has a decided preference for heavy loams and clay soils. Speaking generally, yields of wheat are much larger in the hilly and mountainous sections.

Accordingly Mr. Long has recommended that wheat as a market crop be attempted only in the Piedmont and that farmers in the coastal plain plant just enough for home consumption.

Wheat lands should be plowed, thoroughly fitted and pulverized with harrows and rollers, so that the seed bed will be firm with a thin layer of loose soil at the surface. A drill is the best implement for seeding wheat, but it may be sown broadcast and disked in. Five or six pecks of wheat should be used to seed an acre. November is a good time to sow wheat. It may be sown later with good results. Bluestem, Purple Straw, Red May, Fultz and Pulcaster are the varieties recommended to farmers in the Southeast. In this section wheat should be fertilized with a mixture of 500 pounds to the acre of equal parts of cottonseed meal and acid phosphate, following in March by a top dressing with 100 to 150 pounds of nitrate of soda. The average yield of wheat an acre in the United States is 14 bushels. The average in the Southeastern cotton States falls below the average for the country, but a yield of 20 bushels to the acre in the Southeast is not unusual.

With wheat selling at war prices, there is a chance for making it a money crop in the Piedmont sections of the Southeastern cotton States. Figures in the South Carolina department of agriculture show that $20,000,000 worth of flour was imported into the State in 1913. If the cotton planters succeed in raising only enough wheat to supply the home demand in 1915, it will be a large accomplishment.

None of the Southeastern cotton States produces enough oats for its own use. South Carolina alone imported $2,000,000 worth of this grain in 1913.—The State.

NO DIFFERENCE.

The Proof Is Here the Same as Everywhere.

For those who seek relief from kidney ills, Doan's Kidney Pills offer hope of relief and the proof is here in Laurens, the same as everywhere. Laurens people have used Doan's and Laurens people recommend Doan's the kidney remedy used in America for fifty years. Why suffer? Why run the risk of dangerous kidney ills—fatal Bright's disease. Here's Laurens proof. Investigate it.

W. P. Shealy, 426 E. Main St., Laurens, S. C., says: "My back was in bad shape and I was hardly able to get about. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I did so. One box brought me great relief."

Mr. Shealy is only one of many Laurens people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Shealy had—the remedy backed by home testimony, 50c all stores. MANY RUINED LIVES

Hundreds can point to the use of calomel as the cause of physical decay. Its strenuous effects upon liver, kidneys and even the heart are known to every practicing physician.

Medical science has found a vegetable compound that eliminates the poisons from the liver and accumulations from the bowels in a safer and saner way than does calomel and leaves no ill after-effects.

This remedy in the form of GRIGSBY'S LIVER-VER-LAX is a proven success. It is for sale in 50c and $1.00 bottles by Laurens Drug Co. who guarantees to refund purchase price if you want it. It is always protected by the likeness of L. K. Grigsby.

APPEAL FOR AID.

The war times have affected all our people and the Orphanage has felt the pinch.

Our main income every fall comes from observance of Work Day in the Sunday-schools. The reports are pretty well in and the results will not pay the Orphanage obligations.

I am turning to individuals for personal, and if need be, additional contributions.

The Orphanage must raise $11,000 during November to meet its obligations.

Will you not send a check in this time of stress, and do so right away? The exigencies demand some large and liberal gifts, but small contributions will not by any means be despised.

If desired, credit will be given one's church or association.

The orphans are on our hands and are ours by adoption. I honestly feel that, as the people, unless dire calamity should overtake us, we should find a way to care for them and not turn them out in homes of uncertain surroundings.

Some churches and Sunday schools have already given, but where another collection can be gathered it is urged upon our friends that they secure it.

Our people are proud of the Orphanage, and certainly have a reason to be proud of the way they have maintained it hitherto. We must now, if need be, sacrifice for it in order to maintain past standards.

We have been reducing expenses at every point where it seemed possible to do so, and are urging all our officers and children to practice economy.

Feeling that the case of the orphan child carries its own plea, and that multiplication of words from me is not necessary, I am,

Yours sincerely,
A. T. Jamison, Supt.,
Connie Maxwell Orphanage.
Greenwood, Nov. 2, 1914.

Bazaar a Success.

The annual bazaar, held under the auspices of the local chapter of the Kings Daughters, was held in the armory Friday. The several booths of fancy work and other articles were tastefully decorated and, what is more, were generously patronized. Like all former occasions, the ladies had a delightful and sumptuous spread for both dinner and supper. A substantial sum was realized from the sales.

down German cruisers still at large in the Pacific.

No announcement has been made concerning the amount of booty the allies obtained through the surrender of Tsing-Tau, but it is believed the Germans destroyed everything possible before capitulating. When the siege began there were in the port one German cruiser, four gunboats and three destroyers, the Austrian cruiser Kaiserin Elizabeth, five German merchantmen and several prizes the Germans had taken. Of these vessels one destroyer ran ashore and was captured, and it is believed the Austrian cruiser was blown up. It is possible that the German ships met a similar fate.

Great Britain is not satisfied that all has been told of the Pacific naval battle and continues to hope that the German cruisers Leipzig and Dresden, which engaged the Glasgow and which have not been reported since the battle have been damaged.
